

FAT bastard<sup>TM</sup>

Made in France

APPELLATION: Pays d'Ochabod Crane

The grapes for our blood-red Fat Bastard blend come from the finest haunted plots of the Languedoc-Roussillon region, famous for its rich soil, with the remains of hundreds of battles fought on its lands over the centuries providing complexity and energy to the wine.

WINEMAKING: Blend of Syrah, Grenache & Merlot grapes. Our winemakers work very closely with the local witches to determine the start of each harvest. The grapes are passed through the crusher-destemmer (which is used the rest of the year to punish naughty children). Gently pressed and then fermented in the wizards cauldrons, the sweet blood-red wine is drawn off into the dungeon vats, where it slowly develops, watched over by the ghosts of prisoners past, into a fat, luscious brew...

TASTING NOTES: Juicy and spicy with touches of Transylvanian wolf hair and cucurbits earthiness, this ripe blood-red nectar stays long and rich in the mouth, much appreciated by Count Dracula for its resemblance to his favorite beverage...
